A Broom For Anna
by Charlote Greenwood

Date written : October 17th 2016

A single poem, in English. Painting in pastel.
----------== =

Copyright 2016 Charlote Elizabeth Greenwood.

You may copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format.
Under the following terms: License - this license complete, in original language must be present on all works created from this material.
Attribution - You must give appropriate credit, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests endorsement of you or your use.
NonCommercial - You may not use the material for commercial purposes.
NoDerivatives - If you remix, transform, or build upon the material, you may not distribute the modified material. No additional restrictions
- You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything this license permits.

---------- - -
A Broom For Anna
by Charlote Greenwood
---------- - - -

A broom for Anna
yet a thousand jobs for Joan not to mention David repeated repeated again the idea, that tension, is there brooms for Anna even in her despair.

A world run by the silly the what look like lazy and inept those who rely on a past given to increase; now fat rests.

Time and again the middle expanded 'till all that may remain a flat earth, divided between engulfing center of no in-betweens of middle-men and middle-women managing managers moving a seed twice sold and then re-planted nothing grown lest another be started!

Of all the inheritance given on forward to be in the belly of those who count it; and count the counting as score.

So Anna's broom given for her status to be un-defined to pay it back for the rest of her mortal life a mortgage to paying beliefs of the paid for them to be confined.

[END]